Schmelzer
SCHMELZER TROMBONES

The Sterling Silver bells enhance the quality of sound, while adding immeasurably to the dynamic range of the trombone. You will note immediately how much easier it is to play fast lip trills, how much smoother »Legato« passages become, and how more elastic dynamic range enables the player to voice powerful »fortissimos« without breaking or cracking.

These fine instruments are the result of the culmination of years of experience, both as a craftsman and a performer. Manfred Schmelzer of Germany has produced a line of high quality trombones that are meeting the needs of today's discriminating musician.

Each instrument is hand-made with the finest materials available today. The bells are completely handhammered using the finest Swedish brass which will allow the player to achieve a warm, focused sound.

Projection and response are greatly improved also. Slide sections are nickel-silver and offer a quick action. For Players requiring a fuller and richer sound, we offer Sterling Silver bells for all of our models at an additional cost. An optional open wrap design is available for the F-Attachment instrument.
